

La Doble "L"

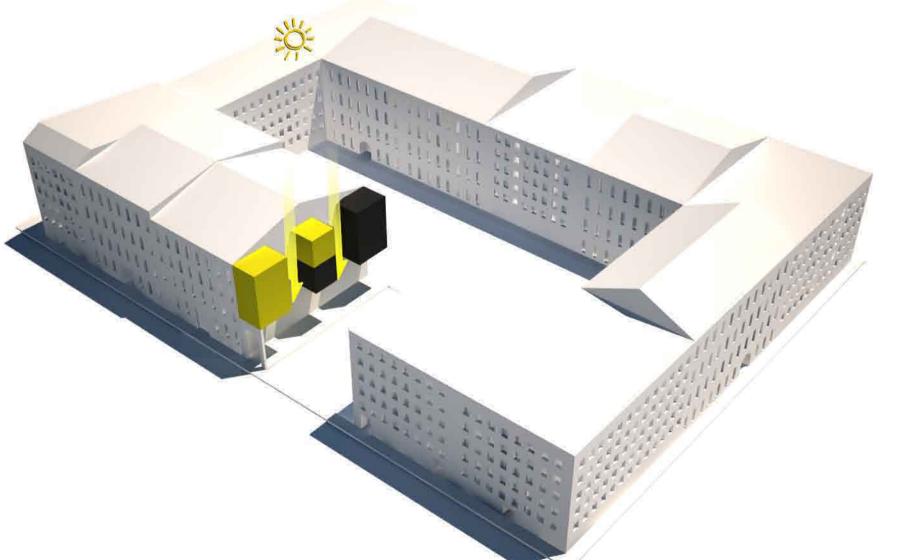

Un novelista soltero con una gran biblioteca, aficionado a cocinar
Un experto informático que trabaja en casa con espacio de gimnasio propio

Two "L" sections hover over the place and in an embrace let themselves lean against each other, resting on a great arch. They must enable the light to get through the pass they just covered, therefore they open up, touching only in the middle. It will be here where the dwellers will enjoy their hobbies (cooking and workout), separated from the rest of the spaces, and from where they may contemplate the interior of the abode while performing their favorite activities.
