PROFILE

The founders are graduate architects of Madrid Polytechnic ETSAM and have continued their training in Madrid and Ateliers Jean Nouvel office in Paris.

Natalia is a Member of the Young Architects Committee (2013-.), and was a Member of the Ethics Committee (2010-2012) in the Madrid Professional Association of Architects COAM. Currently Natalia combines the office with her job as town planner in a town of Madrid.

They have won prizes in numerous national and international competitions, including two in European 09 (Spain and Germany), European 10 (Germany), European 11 (Austria), IQ Experimental Housing Project (Germany), Multipurpose Centre Valle de Salazar (Spain), or the Morentin Main Public Space (Spain). They have obtained several awards, highlighting the Bauwelt Award 2013, the Luis M. Mansilla COAM 2013 Award, the NAN Award 2013, or the Finalist at XII Spanish Architecture and Urbanism Biennial 2013,

They have been published in numerous international magazines, exhibited in several countries, especially in Spain, Germany and Austria, as well as having several models exhibited in The Architectural Gallery of the magazine El Croquis. The world-famous architecture magazine Arquitectura Viva defined Gutiérrez-de-laFuente Arquitectos as "one of the eight most representative young Spanish offices".

They have been lecturers and guest professors at universities in Spain (Madrid Polytechnic CEU), Sweden (Lund University, Tekniska Högskola) and Germany (Coburg University of Applied Sciences and Arts, Hochschule).

Gutiérrez-de-laFuente focuses its research activity in contemporary urban mutation processes such as the conversion of abandoned brownfields and industrial areas, or the phenomenon of shrinking cities. Also, they are especially interested in the new ways of living and housing developments, from the urban planning scale until the details scale. They explore and try to re-formulate the contemporary role of the architect, especially in terms of communication and public moderation.

Gutiérrez-de-laFuente Arquitectos is an architecture & planning office of international scope. At present they are building several singular projects in Spain and Germany, as well as taking part in international debates about the future of cities in the post-oil age.
